MILLINERY!

Our show room was crowded yesterday afternoon, and the great number of Hats sold this spring is astonishing—even greater than we anticipated.

Our most sanguine expectations are more than realized, but we might have known it would be so, for the line of stylish millinery we carry is second to none in the city. The ladies are criterions in elaborate millinery, and they all agree in giving us the preference.

Our Pattern Hats win many exclamations of amazement for their beauty, style and finish. We have some of the most lovely ones left, which we will show Saturday morning, with more on the way to us.

We are in the front with all kinds of Trimmed Hats at various prices; 25 dozen of handsome roses in large clusters—these are beautiful and extremely cheap—at 23c.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

U. S. Department of Agriculture,
Weather Bureau,
Toledo, O., April 22, '92.

The storm which was central over the lower extremity of Lake Michigan has advanced to the northwest and is central north of Lake Huron and east of Lake Superior. It has caused generally cloudy and rainy weather over the entire lake region during its passage. It was still raining at the hour of observation Friday morning at Milwaukee and Alpena.

The area of clearing conditions has remained almost stationary over the central Rocky mountain region. It is causing generally clear weather to the north, and east of its center.

The temperature has remained nearly stationary over the entire country except on the middle Atlantic coast, where it has risen from 10 to 20 degrees.

Westerly winds prevailed over the entire lake regions.

There is a low area of pressure advancing from the extreme northwest, but as yet has caused no change in the weather over that section.

The Mississippi river continues to rise south of Memphis, and is above the danger line at Cairo, Memphis, Vicksburg and New Orleans. The remarkably heavy rains in Louisiana yesterday will no doubt cause a decided rise in the river at New Orleans.

Forecast for Toledo and vicinity—Clearing, slightly cooler and fair.

Saturday—Westerly winds, becoming variable.

E. A. HANNER, Observer.

Indiana and Illinois—Fair till Saturday night and probably Sunday; slightly cooler and frosts to-night in exposed places, slowly rising temperature Saturday.

Michigan—Showers; followed by fair Saturday morning; probably fair Sunday; slightly cooler to-night; northwesterly winds.

Wisconsin—Generally fair; clearing in extreme southeast; slightly cooler to-night with frosts; variable winds.

Ohio—Clearing this afternoon; fair Sunday; slightly cooler; winds becoming northwesterly.

A good appetite can be bought, like anything else. And good digestion after it, too. Both of them come with Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That starts the torpid liver into healthy action, purifies and enriches the blood, cleanses and repairs the system, returns health and vigor, and builds up flesh and strength. For all diseases that come from a disordered liver or impure blood, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Scrofulous, Skin and Scalp Diseases—even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula) in its earlier stages, the "Discovery" is the only remedy so sure and certain that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

On these terms, it's the cheapest blood-purifier sold, no matter how many hundred doses are offered for a dollar (or less)—for with this, you pay only for the good you get.

Can you ask for better proof of its superiority over all other blood-purifiers?

DEMON DEEMING

His Trial in Melbourne Postponed.

The Prisoner Not Yet Ready to Plead.

The Indicted Man is Using all Means

To Convince the People He is Insane.

The General Opinion is, However, That it is all Put On and Everybody Expects to Hear of a Conviction.

Melbourne, April 22.—The trial of Frederick Deeming for the murder of his late wife, formerly Miss Mather, at Windsor, near this city, was set down for to-day in the criminal court.

The court room was crowded to the doors. Deeming was brought in, looking much more careworn than at the time of the inquest.

His counsel, Mr. Lyle, asked for an adjournment until April 28, which was granted, much to the disappointment of the spectators who had expected that the trial would proceed.

Since he inquest Deeming has spent most of his time in writing. When not so engaged, he walks up and down the cell, and discusses his case with his jailers. He speaks of the recent inquest as a "grand farce" and says he is sorry it is at an end as he is now deprived of all sources of amusement.

To the governor of the jail, speaking of the victim of the Windsor murder, he said: "She is not dead; she will appear again all right."

He continues to ask for spirits and cigars, but is not allowed to have either. He said to the doctor, referring to brandy which was given him after the conclusion of the inquest:

"Why did you give me that poison?" It is evident he is doing his best to keep up the pretense of insanity, but the people are thoroughly convinced that it is feigned.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

Speculation as to Whether Mr. Morton Is or Is not a Candidate.

New York, April 22.—A Washington correspondent wires his paper thus: Much has been said throughout the country about the position of Vice President Morton touching the old ticket, and there is a good deal of uncertainty.

The exact truth seems to be that the vice president is not particularly in love with his office and not personally partial to going on with his duties if there should be a second Harrison administration.

The understanding is that, though Mr. Morton is reserved, as is becoming, and does not seek a second term, he would hardly refuse to go on if the demand for the old ticket should be strenuous.

ENTERTAINED HIS FRIENDS

Senator Brice Gives a Musicale in Washington.

A Twelve Thousand Dollar Spread Opens the Eyes of the Capital's Gay People.

Washington, April 22.—Senator and Mrs. Brice gave last night, at the Arlington, beginning at the fashionable hour of 10 o'clock, a musicale which was one of the most elaborate and costly entertainments of its kind that ever took place in this country.

There were four hundred guests, including the President, Secretary Blaine, and many others prominent in public life.

The musical program was rendered in the ball room of the hotel. For the entertainment of the guests Senator Brice had the entire first floor of the Arlington Supper was served on fifty tables, at each of which eight persons were seated. The tables were lavishly decorated. A band of thirty pieces supplied the instrumental music for the occasion.

The singers who took part in the musicale were Madame Scaichi, Miss Margaret Reid, and Mr Edward Lloyd, all of whom came from New York. Mr. Brice paid Lloyd $1,000 and the ladies $750 each—$2,500 in all. The whole cost of the entertainment was not less than $12,000.

BOLD ROBBERS.

They Chloroform a Man and Steal His Goods.

Celina, O., April 22.—One of the boldest robberies ever committed in Mercer county occurred last night at the little station of Oregon, five miles north of this city on the C., H. & D. railroad.

The general store and postoffice owned by Henry Krider was entered by burglars, who effected an entrance through a window. Mr. Krider rooms in the rear of the store. He was chloroformed and then the store was plundered for everything that the burglars needed, including a lot of tobacco and cigars, dry goods, boots and shoes, in fact a little of everything including several revolvers.

The value of the goods stolen is estimated at from $300 to $600, and about $50 in money, a gold watch, and a few postage stamps were also taken.

The burglars went for the purpose of getting enough to pay them for the undertaking, having a wagon standing near on a by-road that is never used. The tracks of the burglars could be traced to and from it, but after the wagon tracks struck the Celina pike the trace was lost.

IN THE TOILS.

Philadelphia, April 22.—Joseph A. Dennison alias S. S. Lindsay & Co., has been arrested in Canada, charged with fraudulently using the mails for sending out bogus insurance policies. The prisoner admitted having sent a policy to Gay Brothers, Eton Rapids, Mich. The prisoner was held for further hearing.

FATAL FALL.

Tiffin, O., April 22.—Bentley Runyan, an engraver at the Beatty glass works, and son of John B. Runyan, assistant cashier of the Commercial bank, aged 20, fell down stairs at the works and was fatally injured.

LEFT THE CONVENT.

A Convert to the Catholic Church Joins a Comic Opera Company.

Hartford, Conn., April 22.—A bombshell has been thrown into the camp of Catholicism in this part of Connecticut by the withdrawal of the most prominent nun in the state from Mount St. Joseph's Convent to become a member of a comic opera company.

Hartford people remember the stir occasioned some fifteen years ago by the conversion from Protestantism to the Roman Catholic church of Miss Lulu Willcox, a member of one of the most aristocratic families in the city, an da beautful, charming and brilliant girl.

Whatever may be the reason why Miss Willcox left the convent, she was led to make that resolve quickly. When she announced her intention of leaving she was prevailed to remain until the bishop, who was away, should return, when she could apply for a dispensation; but she declined to do this.

This looks as if she meant to renounce the Roman Catholic religion as well as her vow. She intends to join a comic opera company where her musical accomplishments will be utilized.

Berlin, April 22.—There is no clue to the whereabouts of Jeager, the cashier who embezzled 1,240,000 marks from the Frankfort Rothschilds. He lost money as well as other funds which he embezzled from trust moneys in his hands, in speculating in fruit. His salary was only 5,000 marks a year.

ARE NEEDED IN TOLEDO

A Great Scheme Worked in Chicago.

The Home of the O'Leary Cow to be Invaded.

The Same Amount of Push in This City Would Make the Chute Country Valuable Property.

Chicago, April 22.—A syndicate represented by a Sioux City banker has a real estate scheme under way which for originality takes a front rank.

It involves the outlay of between $500,000 and $1,000,000 and the purchase of a large body of land in the territory west of the river south of Harrison street.

The land is to be bought in a body, cleared of the cheap improvements now on it and improved in a manner more suitable to its location.

The syndicate back of the project proposes to carry on the sub-division war with a vengeance, and will have a choice sub-division of from 15 to 30 acres right in the heart of the city.

This syndicate is represented by John H. Moen, of Sioux City. He is backed by capitalists from that place, from New York and Philadelphia, supplemented by a number of the prominent Chicago men who have always been accustomed to testify their faith in Chicago by being heavy real estate owners.

The scene of the operations of this syndicate is the territory in which the great fire originated and where the famous O'Leary cow had its residence. It has since the fire been built up with cheap frame and brick improvements, and is occupied by the lower class of Bohemians, Italians and Poles.

THE GOVERNOR'S MOTHER.

Mrs. McKinley Is Eighty-Four Years Old To-day.

Canton, O., April 22.—Mrs. Wm. McKinley, sr., celebrates her 84th birthday to-day. The event was noticed by the inviting of a few friends and relatives to the old homestead on North Market street. Mrs. McKinley, whose husband is still living, and of about the same age, enjoys remarkably good health and is active and strong for one of her years. She is proud of her son, and to none has his advancement been the source of more pleasure.

THE WAR IN VENEZUELA

The Government Forces Badly Defeated.

Fighting Taking Place in all Parts of the Country and Many Killed and Wounded.

New York, April 22.—Under date of Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, the Herald prints the following special cable news:

This picturesque seaport is in a terrible state of excitement over the utter rout of the government troops on April 14.

At sundown on that date Palacio's army made its final and futile attempt to dislodge a force of insurgents who were intrenched at a spot just beyond Opolito.

Twice the government soldiers had attacked the enemy and failed to drive it from its position. Discouraged over their ill-success, Palacio's troops showed signs of panic, but under appeals of their leader they rallied and again charged the foe.

The encounter was brief but furious. They were defeated all along the line, and turning, fled in every direction. The insurgents followed in hot pursuit, and did not abandon it until the terror-stricken government troops were well on the road to this town.

There were many dead, dying and wounded left upon the battle field. Some of them were rebels, but the large majority were followers of Palacio. The government soldiers did not stop to carry their dead and injured from the scene of their rout, but straggled into Puerto Cabello startling the whole town with their story of complete defeat.

The excitement their presence caused, was further heightened by the arrival of a train next morning bearing 11 dead or wounded soldiers. These had been picked up on the field after the insurgents had retired.

Nothing definite could be learned as to the exact number of those slain, but it is officially announced that the government lost one-third of its force in the encounter. of this loss by far the greater proportion was caused by desertions. As soon as Palacio's men saw that they were overcome many of them threw down their arms and went over to the enemy.

The news of the battle's result spread terror throughout Puerto Cabello. It was almost immediately followed by a general conscription order. The town has some 9,000 inhabitants. Every able-bodied man among them has been forced into military service.

News of further fighting is hourly expected.

ALONG THE GREAT LAKES

The Coal Fleet Arriving in Chicago.

Freights Reported Dead at Buffalo.

Vessel Passages Through the Straits and Rivers—All the News of General Interest.

Chicago, April 22.—(Special Marine Service)—The lowest rate made to the seaboard on flour or oil cakes and other heavy freight for many years was that put into effect by a lake-and-rail line yesterday. It was 12 1-2 cents—just half the all-rail rate to New York. Every lake line agent in town denied in turn having made such figures, but it is certain that one, if not two lines, are now taking freight at 12 1-2 cents.

Clashing Interests.

The complaint of the marine interest against the Ft. Wayne railroad bridge as an unreasonable obstruction to navigation seems to have got lost somewhere at Washington. Captain Marshall's report condemning the bridge was made last December, but since that time nothing further has been heard of the matter. Marine men who pushed the case against Canal street bridge so vigorously for one entire year, are chagrined that all their efforts should come to naught by the inaction of United States District Attorney Milchrist. Mr. Milchrist promised six months ago that suit would be at once instituted against the city of Chicago to collect the fine of $5,000 per month for allowing the bridge to remain, after being ordered by the secretary of war to remove it. Nothing whatever has been done, however and it is probable that the Lake Line Agents Association will appeal directly to Attorney General Miller for orders upon the district attorney to commence the suit. It is felt that the river and harbor act, under which the government took control of Chicago River, will be tested in the courts sometime, and a better test case could not be had than the one over Canal street bridge.

The Coal Fleet

A large fleet of coal-loaded craft has arrived in Chicago the last two or three days, and as many more are expected. The advent of these fleets marks two interesting and important events—a decline in the price of coal from winter figures, and a strike in the three large coal yards of Robert Law.

The Coal Unloaders' union will make a desperate effort to force Mr. Law to employ union men at his yard at the mouth of the harbor, at Eighteenth street, and at Division street in the North branch.

Mr. Law, who receives a great many cargoes, is resisting all the overtures of the union, and disorders and turbulence are in prospect. At times fully 500 men are given employment on vessels at these three yards alone, not to mention the regular yard men, who may become involved in the trouble.

One of the officers of the Coal Unloaders' union said to-day: "We are going to get work for union men in Law's yards somehow or other. We have tried all peaceable means we know of, and now we are going to do the other thing. The ball may be opened any day now."

The first coal fleet of the season, consigned to various firms, carried 24,000 tons.

The steamers E. B. Hale and R. P. Ranney and barge Alva Bradley, the last of the winter fleet in Chicago, will go into the ore trade. The Majestic has already gone to the ore rgion and the Ira H. Owen and rest of the coal fleet will follow at once.

Jam in Chicago.

There was a jam in the North branch of the river during the day, the steamer Ionia and other big craft being huddled together in Black Hawk street. The schooner City of Toledo and many other vessels bound both ways suffered considerable delay. The big-beamed steamer C. B. Lockwood was pulled out of the draw of the Van Buren street bridge early in the morning, thus relieving the jam in the South branch.

Trouble in Unloading.

Chicago, April 22.—(Special Marine Service)—Steamboat lines are experiencing much delay to-day in unloading boats. A shortage of longshoremen is the trouble.

Duluth, April 22.—(Special Marine Service)—The steamer George W. Robey, coal laden, is the first boat to arrive from the lower lakes, reaching here this morning. She was followed by the C. B. Lockwood and Onoko.

The Sauber, Iosco, Williams and Fayette Brown got stuck in the ice last night and are now about four miles out.

Two more steamers were sighted at 11 o'clock just entering the ice.

The steamer City of London, which left yesterday, has not gone over three miles in 24 hours.

Rates Stiffen.

Chicago, April 22.—(Special Marine Service)—Lake freights showed a decided improvement to-day; large sales of wheat for shipment were reported and demand for boats was better than for a week past. The Robert Mills was chartered for wheat to Buffalo at 1 3-8c. Vesselmen generally were holding for 1 1-2c.

In General.

Buffalo—Nothing whatever is doing in coal freights to-day.

Duluth—Best offer shippers are making to-day is 2 1-2c on wheat to Buffalo.

Sault—Steamer Specular, bound up, returned here to-day with two buckets broken off her wheel. A new one will be put on here.

Local Marine News.

The tug Torrent came in with another big raft this morning.

F. N. Quale is having his Water street office handsomely decorated.

The water is low again in the river to-day, but not so low as to impede navigation much.

The schooner Barkalow is at Gilmore's waiting to go on the dry dock.

The St. Peter cleared to-day with 22,500 bushels of wheat for Buffalo.

It is probable that the new line of steamers will dock at the marine wharf.

Whalebacks 105 and 117 went out with coal for Lake Superior. They were picked up by the Silka, also coal laden, outside.

The steamer Lindsay came in light from Erie, but immediately went out again, having received orders to proceed to Detroit.

Bowling Green, O., April 22.—The republicans of this county held a convention yesterday. The administrations of Harrison and McKinley were heartily indorsed.

The following were chosen as delegates to the district convention: E. S. Bryant, E. W. Merry, Gus Keil, J. C. Bucklin, Samuel Knight, W. T. Thomas, A. L. Pettys, T. G. Collins, G. C. To the state convention: Wilson Solether, J. O. Troup, John Bamer, John Heau, W. H. Wetmore, James R. Evans, F. L. Kingsbury, M. L. Case, E. B. Beverstock, Hugh Stewart, Charles B. Saxby.

John B. Wilson will be supported for district delegate to the national convention.

SHERMAN STILL ON DECK

Foraker Men Getting Left as Usual.

Taylor, of Champaign, in the Lead for Secretary of State—Delegates at Large.

Columbus, April 22.—Delegates to the republican state convention have been selected in 25 counties, and upon the figures compiled by a very intimate friend of the Hon. Samuel M. Taylor, it is asserted that the representative from Champaign county has a majority for secretary of state over both his competitors, Representative B. S. Wydman and Mr. John J. Chester.

This overwhelming selection of Taylor delegates is looked upon as a sure indication of the nomination of Capt. Josiah Allen for clerk of the supreme court, and Capt. E. L. Lybarger as member of the board of public works.

There is still much uncertainty about the additional supreme judgeship, as none of the reports of county conventions indicate any feeling upon that subject. The nomination of Representative Taylor would be taken as an indication that the delegates-at-large will be Gov. McKinley, Secretary Foster, Hon. Wm. Hahn and Hon. M. A. Hanna, or Col. Myron T. Herrick, of Cleveland. The rush of politicians and their friends, the delegates, will be begun Sunday night.

FOUND TWO DEAD BODIES.

Duluth, Minn., April 22.—George Peters, an explorer, just arrived in the city from the northern boundary of Itasca county, where he has been looking up lands on the Canadian side, came across the bodies of two dead men, in a badly disfigured state, at a point where the Little Elk empties into Rainy Lake. From papers found under the bodies the name of one is believed to be Henry Matthews, of Cincinnati. Near at hand was a Winchester rifle, two small axes, and some camp trinkets. The men were apparently about 30 years old.

ALL SERENE.

Cincinnati, April 22.—Grand Secretary P. J. McGuire, of the National Brotherhood of Carpenters, succeeded in bringing the carpenters and thier bosses to an agreement and settling their difficulty for two years to come.

The working day is to be nine hours and the wages will be 30 cents an hour for the first six months and 33 1-3 cents an hour for the succeeding eighteen months. This contract between the bosses and the workmen has been duly signed and made binding.

PEOPLE'S PARTY.

Tiffin, O., April 22.—Dr. H. F. Barnes of this city, chairman of the state executive committee of the people's party, has gone to Columbus to attend a meeting of the committee at the Park Hotel. The time and place of holding the state convention will be determined upon and arrangements made for a thorough organization of the state for a school house campaign.

THE BARONESS DE STUERS

She Takes a Part in the Reilly-Wade Case.

Claims that the Dresses Seized Were Her Property—Some Pliable Swearing.

Chicago, April 22.—Elliott Zborowski and his wife, formerly the Baroness de Stuers, who have been at the Auditorium, left last evening for Vancouver, B. C., over the Northern Pacific, en route for Yokohama.

But before the baroness left she did something that may lead to some spicy testimony in a justice's court. A deputy sheriff, accompanied by James E. Purnell, replevied the six dresses recently seized by Constable Chapin at Kate Reilly's dressmaking parlors.

The writ was issued at the suit of Margaret L. Zborowski. In the affidavit Mrs. Zborowski deposes that all six gowns seized are her property, and are not, as alleged by the plaintiff Mrs. Wade, and tearfully asserted by the dressmakers, the property of either Kate Reilly or the five Chicago women whose names and addresses Mrs. Wade has.

Mrs. Wade, on the other hand, says that one of the gowns was to have been worn by a guest at a swell north side wedding a few nights ago; that she would be summoned to prove the alleged inaccuracy in the affidavit of the baroness. Mrs. Wade also asks with some spirit if the baroness is a silent partner in the dressmaking venture.

FOUND IN NEW YORK.

Alliance, O., April 22.—A telegram was received here this afternoon from New York stating that Jessie, the 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Howell, who made preparations to elope with 11-year-old Charley Vasper, was found on the streets of that city by officials.

AGED CITIZEN DEAD.

VAN LOON'S BANK ROLL

Where Did He Get so Much Money?

Evidence to Show He Came Honestly by It.

An Interesting Day's Proceedings in the Trial of the Alleged Bank Robber and Murderer.

Ottawa, O., April 22.—(Special)—The telegram published in regard to the arrest of another man as the real Columbus Grove murderer and bank robber is considered here as a scheme of the defense.

Ex-Prosecuting Attorney Bailey says to-day that he had a conversation with Detective Brown on Monday night of this week, and that he gave the scheme away.

It appears that Mr. Brown has no information upon which to arrest anybody as the Columbus Grove robber, and admitted to Mr. Bailey that he had no information upon the subject except a description furnished him by someone at Columbus Grove, and the man he had spotted might have been in Columbus Grove on the 6th and 7th of August and still not be the bank robber.

The report does not interfere with the program of the Van Loon trial.

Witnesses yesterday testified in favor of Van Loon.

Mrs. Cora Oyler, sister of Van Loon, living at Columbus, testified she had loaned her brother, Frank Van Loon, $500 on August 13, drawn in five notes of $100 each, due each year for five years, signed by Van Loon and his wife.

The cross-examination brought out the fact that Mrs. Oyler had used about all the money she could account for in the purchase of real estate in Columbus just a short time before.

Her father had paid her $175, the treasurer of the school board $198 and Mr. Curtis $50 that might have been used in making up the $500 loaned to her brother.

J. W. Johnson, James Settlemier and John Rorick testified as to having seen the desperado making his escape, and to their best judgment thought Van Loon was not the man, but would not say positively that he was or was not the man.

D. E. Frantz and Dr. Curtis, of Westerville, testified they had borrowed money from Mrs. Oyler.

The cross-examination developed that only $50 was paid by Curtis that could be used in the loan to Van Loon.

Elias Fate, living southeast of Columbus Grove, testified that he was at Farthingal's harness shop, 200 feet from the bank, at the time the tragedy occurred; saw the man who did the shooting, and did not think Van Loon was the man.

Fred Hefflemier, barber at Ottawa, testified as to having shaved Roberts and Van Loon, and that there was no similarity between them.

E. T. Baumgardner, photographer, and D. C. Long, lawyer at Ottawa, testified that there was no similarity between Roberts and Van Loon.

Simon McComb and Elvira McComb testified that they were present when the shooting occurred, and did not think Van Loon resembled the man who did the shooting.

F. E. Freece, sheriff of Putnam county, testified that Roberts was received at the jail in Ottawa on August 22, 1891; discharged October 30; that Frank Van Loon was received on October 22, 1891.

Charles Budd, Sunberry, O., testified that he and Mr. Sutton had a conversation with Mrs. Huddle, and that she said she did not count the money she found in Van Loon's pocket until she had returned from Columbus.

James S. Young, of Westerville, O., testified that Van Loon had bought a dog of him for $25 and saw him borrow $20 of Mrs. Oyler to pay for it.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Clark, F. M. Anderson, Harry Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Harris, of Franklin county, testified that they were well acquainted with Van Loon and that his reputation for honesty had always been good.

FIXING UP HIS CABINET

President Harrison to Clean House May 1.

Miller to be a Judge, Noble to be Attorney General and M. M. Estee to Fill the Vacant Seat.

New York, April 22.—A special to the World from Washington says the statement was made there last night on good authority that President Harrison has decided upon several changes in his cabinet, which it is expected will take place about May 1st.

The new slate moves Attorney General Miller to the supreme court, puts Secretary Noble into the department of justice, and nominates M. M. Estee, of California, to succeed Noble.

MUCH INSANITY.

The Grip Has Racked Many People's Minds.

Millersburg, O., April 22.—The increase in the number of insane persons in this locality the past winter is so great that it has become alarming. The grip seems to be the origin of nearly every case, and leaves them in a hopeless condition. James Gray, of Mechanic township, and Samuel Nelson, of Killbuck township, were reported yesterday to the probate court. To-day a sad case is reported from Berlin township. A young man named Darrow, the only son of a widowed mother, is a raving maniac. He imagines that his mother is no relation to him and has made a desperate attempt on two occasions to kill her.

A FALSE ALARM.

Ottawa County's Treasury Has Not Been Tapped.

Oak Harbor, O., April 22.—(Special.)—There is much indignation here over the report that Ottawa county's treasury had been tapped. The story is entirely without foundation. George Deal, Jr., has returned to the city and the funds are all right. What was a little private junket by the assistant treasurer, has been magnified by sensation lovers way beyond the limits of truth.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Rain Again Spoils a Number of Ball Games.

Only one Western league game was played Thursday, Kansas City defeating St. Paul 9 to 4. In the League Louisville defeated Chicago 7 to 2 and Boston defeated Baltimore 7 to 6.

To-day is an open date for Toledo, being used up in getting to Omaha, where they play to-morrow.

NOTES FROM FOSTORIA.

Fostoria, April 22.—(Special)—The junior O. U. A. M. are making big preparations to give Fostoria an old fashioned Fourth of July celebration in every sense of the word.

MARRIED MME. BARRIOS

Senor Jose Martinez de Roda, a Spanish Nobleman,

Captures the Widow of the Late President.

The Charming and Wealthy Bride a Native of Central America—A Highly Cultured Lady.

New York, April 22.—Mme. Francisca de Barrois, the young widow of the late president of the republic of Guatemala, was married last evening to Senor Jose Martinez de Roda, a Spanish noblemen, at the magnificent residence of the bride, 855 Fifth avenue.

The ceremonies—for there were two, both civil and religious—were witnessed by only a few of the more intimate friends of the bride and groom and yet it was one of the most brilliant weddings that has occurred in New York in recent years. In the afternoon the civil ceremony was performed by Mayor Grant and was witnessed by only a few friends. In the evening the religious ceremony took place.

The ball room, recently the scene of so many gayeties, had been turned into a veritable temple by the erection of an altar resplendent in white satin and white flowers, and the house had been transformed into a floral bower.

Shortly after 8 o'clock Archbishop Corrigan, in full episcopal robes entered the room, followed by Mme. de Barrois, attended by Mme. Aparico, who acted as godmother by proxy for the queen of Spain. Next came the groom, attired in the brilliant costume of the court of Spain. He was attended by his best man, Senor Bethencourt.

The archbishop, standing before a small improvised altar, greeted the couple, who knelt before him. Back of them stood the witnesses, Senor Baldesano, Senor Savedra, George Kidd, Senor Yanagann Yznage, of New York, and Arthur Leary, and beside them was Senor Sageario, secretary of the Spanish legation, in his official dress, representing the prime minister of Spain.

When the kneeling couple had arisen the archbishop began the celebration of the solemn nuptial mass of the Romish church, followed by the reading of the marriage service. When this was completed and Mme. de Barrois became Senora De Roda, the guests crowded around them and tendered them congratulations.

Then for two hours or more there was merriment and a wedding feast.

Mme. Francisca De Barrois is a native of Central America. She was born in Guatemala in 1860. During the 32 years of her life she has passed through varied experiences. When 14 or 15 years of age she began to go out in society. It was at a ball at the house of a member of the Guatemala government that she met Gen. De Barrois. He was immediately struck with her great beauty, for which she was famed throughout Guatemala. He expressed a wish to marry her. His overtures were rejected by the father. Within a few months the couple were married without the consent of the bride's father. There are two versions of the manner in which the father was outwitted. One is that the general abducted his wife, the other that they ran away together.

Whichever be true they were married in 1875. The two men became reconciled and the marriage received the paternal blessing. Gen. De Barrois was very proud of his beautiful wife. He traveled with her throughout the United States and Europe. The best masters were secured to instruct her in every accomplishment.

As a result, Mme. De Barrois to-day is one of the best educated women in the world. Eight children were born to the couple during the ten years of their married life. Five boys, the oldest is now 15 years of age, the youngest 8. In 1885 De Barrois was killed, his mortal enemy, De Soto, having now the house on Fifth avenue next to that the widow of De Barrois has occupied since her husband's taking off.

Senor De Roda is a member of the Spanish chamber of deputies and is prominent in the councils of the conservative party. He has large estates near Barcelona, which district he represents in the cortes. He has property in Madrid also, and is said to be very wealthy.

HAVING FUN WITH POE

Ebenezer Has Been to Washington.

He is Trying to Convince James G. that He Ought to Run for President.

Cincinnati, April 22.—The Times-Star Washington correspondent wires his paper as follows:

Doubtless another story of Blaine's alleged presidential aspirations will be rending the political atmosphere this evening or to-morrow, and the able correspondents will be wiring their newspapers the story of how a mysterious western politician called on Secretary Blaine this morning and how the secretary looked out of his window across the wimpling Potomac and smiled betimes and winked his other eye, the while the narrator told him how the country was unanimous for him and wanted him for president and in fact would not be content without him.

It is true that a politician has called upon Mr. Blaine with the usual results. It is true, also, that he talked presidency to the secretary for 15 minutes, and that the secretary smiled and treated the caller hospitably. This is just like Mr. Blaine. He treats everybody hospitably.

But he didn't tell his caller that he was a candidate for the presidency, or that he had changed his mind since he wrote a letter declaring himself out of the race. But the prominent western politician is peddling the story just the same. He is State Auditor Ebenezer W. Poe, of Ohio,

Catarrhal Female Weakness.

Of Special Interest to Female Sufferers, Old and Young.

A Free Book.

A very common cause of female diseases is the result of catarrh of one or more of the pelvic organs or passages. Catarrhal congestion of the ovaries, bladder, urethra, womb or vagina, either is amply sufficient to make life miserable. But when (as is usually the case) two, three, or even all of these parts become congested, it becomes difficult to overstate the sufferings that follow. It would be impossible to present an exhaustive array of the symptoms caused by these congestions, for their name is legion; but prominent among them are to be mentioned smarting, throbbing, scalding, beating, burning, quivering, aching, trembling, bloating, flashes of heat, tremors of cold, prickly sensations, sinking feelings, faintness, numbness—these, in part or in whole, with many more indescribable puncturing, piercing pains flying from part to part with provoking uncertainty, mocking the victim with momentary relief, to begin its tortures elsewhere. No two cases are exactly alike in number or severity of symptoms, some being only slightly annoyed, others being actually confined to the bed.

In all of these perverted functions of the female organs take two teaspoonfuls of Pe-ru-na before each meal and between meals, and enough of Man-a-lin at bedtime to keep the bowels continually in a natural condition. Vaginal injections of hot water should be taken three times each day.

A pamphlet of 32 closely printed pages (no pictures or foolish jokes), giving cause, symptoms, and cure of catarrh, acute and chronic, la grippe, consumption, coughs, colds, bronchitis, pharyngitis, sore throat, catarrhal dyspepsia, catarrhal deafness, catarrhal sore eyes, etc., sent free to any address by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co., of Columbus, O.

EXCITEMENT IN CHICAGO

Russian Refugees Indulge in a Riot.

They Refuse to Leave the "Shelter" and Police Have to Take a Hand.

Chicago, April 22.—After an evening of the wildest excitement and commotion a detail of police was left on guard at the shelter house of the society in aid of the Russian refugees last night.

The events leading up to the commotion have to do with the work of the society, and their culmination in what amounted to a riot was in spite of all that the officers in charge of the place could do.

Twenty-five or thirty Russian refugees, who have been charitably housed, fed and cared for for the past four weeks, insisted upon a continuance of these privileges.

Having extended to these persons every inducement and opportunity to make a living for themselves the management had decided that they must abandon their free quarters and make room for new arrivals.

This they refused to do, and trouble arose. Messrs. Lowin and Goldstein, who have charge of the "shelter," determined on this move and ejected the refractory refugees without violence. Shortly afterwards the most of them returned and demanded reinstatement. Denial increased their persistency and increased their clamoring.

The police were called on to quiet them. Before the officers could arrive an attack was made upon both the front and back doors of the "shelter," the latter being torn off its hinges. When the officers arrived Mr. Lowin determined to make an example of at least one of the men, and arrested the one who appeared to be the leader, a broad-shouldered, able-bodied fellow named Alper.

Alper had with him his father and mother, each over 60 years of age. When the officers started away with Alper his parents showed such extreme sorrow and helplessness that he relented and told the officers to release Alper, thinking the action would have a good effect on the crowd.

In this he was mistaken, for as soon as it grew dark the physical demonstrations of protest were begun anew by Alper and his comrades. Their ranks were increased by the street crowd, such as are always ready to participate in such affairs.

The demand of the refugees that they be given shelter for the night being refused, an instantaneous attack was made by the mob, threats against the inmates of the "shelter" being freely used.

Again the police were called, and at their appearance the crowd, except the refugees, were dispersed. They threaten to return, however, and a detail of police therefore remained on guard at the "shelter" all night.

THE STATE CAPITAL.

The Central Asylum Changes Managers—Missing Man.

Columbus, O., April 22.—The Central insane asylum was turned over to the republicans to-day when Dr. Ayres stepped out and the new superintendent, Dr. A. B. Richardson, came in. The board of trustees also met and received the resignation of Steward W. H. Williams, and then immediately elected Mr. W. C. Watson to fill the vacancy. Mr. Watson is the chairman of the Delaware county executive committee, a man of business ability, and his election will reflect credit upon the trustees. Dr. W. D. Duesthle, of Akron, was chosen to succeed Dr. Snyder, the appointment to take effect May 16.

Lincoln Fritter, a prominent young democratic attorney and secretary of the Thurman club, is mysteriously missing. He has not been seen since a week ago Monday. To-day his family told the story of his disappearance to the newspapers. His accounts with the club and with the law firm of Nash & Nash are straight, and no good reason for his disappearance can be given.

Nicholas Pletcher, a patient at the Central insane asylum from Muskingum county, suicided this morning by cutting his throat from ear to ear with a penknife. He was 57 years old and had a family.

THEIR NEW MARRIAGE BUREAU.

The Salvation Army Proposes to Establish One in London.

In an interview in London with Mr. Cadman, director of Gen. Booth's social reception scheme (of which it is said Cadman was the real originator), it was explained that the matrimonial bureau which the Salvation Army people propose to establish will be mainly a commercial venture. That is, it will not be carried on free of charge, though there is a philanthropic spirit underlying the scheme.

It is intended to facilitate suitable marriages among people who have few opportunities for varied acquaintance or social intercourse. Close inquiries will be made in all cases, and negotiations will be carried on only in behalf of persons found worthy in all respects. The clients of the bureau will be of all classes. Rich and poor will be treated alike and no inquiry will be made as to creed of applicants.

The bureau will be set in operation as readily for an atheist as for a follower of the Salvation Army's banner. Mr. Cadman believes the result will be to materially lessen the number of unsuitable unions.

SEE BULLETS IN THEIR COURSE.

A late scientific authority states that by saturating a bullet with vaseline its flight may be easily followed with the eye from the time it leaves the muzzle of the rifle until it strikes the target. The course of the flight is marked by a beautiful ring of smoke, caused by the vaseline being ignited on leaving the muzzle of the gun. This smoke ring will remain suspended in the air for some little time after the bullet strikes if the day is not too windy.

IN THE OIL COUNTRY.

Interesting Notes Gathered in St. Marys, Ohio.

St. Marys, O., April 22.—(Special)—One of the most important test wells drilling in the oil field at present is the one on the Muller farm, three miles southwest of this city and about two miles from the new south pool. The well is the property of the Ohio Oil company and should it prove to be an oiler it would add a large section of territory to the south pool extension and be the means of a large amount of new work in that direction. There are several small oilers in that locality and the prospects are generally looking very bright.

The Ohio Oil company is rigging up to drill a well on the Hamilton farm, north of here, in Noble township.

The East Bank Oil company will soon commence drilling six wells on the Kishler farm, an the east bank of the reservoir.

The Economy Oil company have just completed and shot their No. 2 on the Chas. McKee farm. It is good for about 75 barrels. The same company has No. 3 and 4 on the same farm drilling and rig up for No. 5.

The Feeder Oil company have completed and shot Nos. 6, 9 and 10 on the McKee farm, and are each good for from 75 to 125 barrels. Nos. 4 and 8 on the same farm are drilling.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the well that is being drilled by Barnes and Neely on the Caroline Barington farm, east of the New Bremen pike.

IN THE BALLROOM.

'Mid rosy banks of rarest bloom
And sweet low sounds of pleasure,
Adown the silken, scented room
She treads the winsome measure;
And perfumed gallants proudly bend
To meet her modest glances,
And catch the whispered words that lend
Allurement to the dances.

Her liquid ruffles lightly tint
The laces that enfold her,
Half lost within the dreamy glint
Of either milk-white shoulder;
But, ah! the gem of her pure heart,
Beneath its dainty covers,
Lies hidden from the subtlest art
Of all these would-be lovers.

And quite in vain their courtly wiles
Their compliments and graces;
For even as, with bows and smiles,
The waltzers take their places,
Within her happy thought she sees,
Distinct as some old etching,
A winding lane of laurel trees
Thro' far-off woodland stretching.

She listens to her praises set
In silver-chorded speeches,
But dreams, the while, of one she met
Upon those vineclad reaches.
For, ah! the sweetest tributes heard,
The most impassioned suing,
Can never drown the faintest word
Of his remembered wooing.

When golden streams of music fall
Athwart the rhythmic revel,
She only hears the cat bird's call
Far down the grassy level
Of distant pastures, with the glow
Of star-eyed daisies lighted,
Wherein, a few short months ago,
Her simple troth was plighted.

And so her fancies dwell aloof,
In blithest freedom faring
To where, 'neath some imagined roof,
In love and labor sharing,
They two shall rest forevermore,
Far from this gay, mad riot,
And count the blissful moments o'er
In calm, delicious quiet.

TORTURING ECZEMA

Editor Iowa Plain Dealer Cured of Insufferable Itching and Pain by the Cuticura Remedies.

No Less Than Five Physicians Consulted. Their Combined Wisdom Followed Without Benefit.

I am sixty-six years old. In August, 1889, was troubled with the peculiar skin disease to which people of my age are subject, known among medical men as eczema. Its first appearance was near the ankles. It rapidly extended over the lower extremities until my legs were nearly one raw sore; from legs the trouble extended across the hips, shoulders and the entire length of the arms, the legs and arms greatly swollen with an itching, burning pain, without cessation. Although the best medical advice attainable was employed, no less than five physicians of the place being consulted and the prescriptions being the result of their combined wisdom, the disease, though apparently checked, would recur in a few days as bad as ever; during its progress my weight fell away about twenty-five pounds. As an experiment I began the use of CUTICURA, following the simple and plain instructions given with the REMEDIES, and in four weeks found myself well, with skin soft and natural in color, the itching and pain entirely relieved. TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

IN ITALY

Before they got Sapolio, the proverb ran—"The pan says to the pot, Keep off or you'll smutch me."

If your grocer sends you anything in place of SAPOLIO, send it back and insist upon having just what you ordered. SAPOLIO always gives satisfaction. On floors, tables and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans and metals it has no equal. Everything shines after it, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

On April 22d, 1864, congress abolished the old-fashioned copper cent previously turned out by the mints and authorized the issue of the one and two cent coins, now in circulation.

Singularly enough this date is the anniversary of Uncle Sam's starting in the money making business, the Act creating the mints having been passed April 22d, 1793.

There are ways of making money without making it in a mint.

We're making money for you by increasing the purchasing power of a dollar.

DAMAGES AWARDED

In the Case of Pecker Against the Lake Shore Railway Company.

In common pleas court late yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of Gottlieb Pecker against the Lake Shore Railway company, returned a verdict for the plaintiff fixing the damages at $800.

It was an action to recover $4,000 damages for personal injury.

ARRESTED AT NORWALK.

John Lieber Charged With Infringing Internal Revenue Laws.

Yesterday John Lieber, a Norwalk saloonkeeper, was arrested by United States Deputy Marshal O. S. Latimer and brought to Toledo on the double charge of wholesaling liquor without paying the special tax and also with failure to properly post and display his tax receipt. He will have a hearing before United States Commissioner Hall this afternoon.

A ROAD HOUSE

Between the City and Presque Isle Where Thirst Can Be Slaked.

The Eagle Brewing company is building a road house on the River road near the intersection of the Presque Isle road.

A line of carriages will also be established running between the house and the termination of the street car line, so that the trip to the island can be made overland.

WIRE THIEVES

Arrested and Bound Over From the Police Court.

John and Adam Nadoliski were arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of grand larceny, for stealing copper wire from the Robison Electric Street Railway company. They waived examination and were bound over with bail fixed at $500 each. The stealing of this wire has been going on for some time until these two men were arrested by Detectives Gilroy and O'Brien, who have thus broken up a bad gang.

RECTOR SAGE

Of St. Paul's Episcopal Church Tendered a Reception.

The Ladies' guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church will give a reception this evening in the church parlors, corner Fourth and Cherry streets, in honor of the new rector, Rev. E. W. Sage. The friends of this parish are cordially invited to attend and be made acquainted with Mr. Sage. During his late visit in the city Archdeacon Brown spoke in terms of highest praise of Mr. Sage's work elsewhere, and it is believed St. Paul's has secured an efficient and devoted pastor in whose hands the parish affairs will prosper, as they have not done of late.

THEY DANCED

And Enjoyed Themselves at Memorial Hall Last Night.

Over a thousand people attended the sixth complimentary social hop at Memorial hall last evening given by the Toledo Rifles, and to say they were all made happy is only stating the truth. The members of this company have a peculiar faculty in this line, which is appreciated by their guests. The military grand march was formed about 9 o'clock, and led by Sergeant Banks and Miss Maggie Mitchell, all the twists and curves, crosses and rings being executed in fine style to the strains of Tony Leon's orchestra. The dancing was kept up until a late hour. All of the committees did their duty in first class style.

FREE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

Fifty Good Girls Wanted for Fifty Good Places in Toledo.

The following is Superintendent Murphy's report for the free employment bureau, week ending April 21:

Situations wanted, males 73, females 28; help wanted, males 38, females 39; positions secured, males 41, females 18.

In addition to these applications for female help there are calls for domestics made in previous weeks, and not supplied, so that Superintendent Murphy says he could find 50 first-class places at housework if he had that number of applicants for the work.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Nothing New in the Painters' Strike—The Bricklayers May Go Next.

Little change is reported in the painters' trouble. The union men have the support of other unions, and as seen by last night's action, of the Central Labor union also. This, of course, they counted on. The master painters appear to think they have the best of the situation, and quite a number of out-of-town men who have come in and been put to work confirm this view.

One employer said this morning that so far he had been able to meet the most pressing engagements his firm had made, and by next week he expected to have a full corps of men at work. The Master Painters' association will meet to-night, and while it is understood they have no communication from the union to consider there may be news to-morrow.

The Bricklayers' union may be the next to bring trouble on the building trade. The new scale of wages which they demand from May 1 on has not yet been conceded by contractors, and it is understood the men will refuse to work on and after the date named unless the wages are advanced to the new scale.

SIGNERS GALORE.

All the Large Shippers Want the New Line of Steamers.

All the large shippers of this city have signed the request for the D. & C. line of steamers to make Toledo on the trip from Cleveland to Mackinaw.

Two sets of petitions are in circulation, one for the shippers and one for the produce exchange. The former is as follows:

Toledo, O., April 21, 1892.

D. Carter, Esq., General Manager D & C. line of steamers, Detroit, Mich.

Dear sir: The undersigned are among the heaviest shippers, to points between this city and Mackinaw. Our trade is steadily growing and believing the time has arrived when increased facilities for our business, in the direction indicated, are necessary, and that a reliable line of steamers running from this city north to the upper ports would be liberally patronized by the people of this locality.

We earnestly request that you shall investigate this matter with a view of extending the regular run of your City of Alpena and City of Mackinac, so as to include Toledo, and in case you should do this we pledge our cordial support to your enterprise.

A RISE IN ASHES.

Beware of the Rat Poisoner Abroad in the City.

Yesterday afternoon as Mrs. B— was going about her household duties, the door-bell rang and a smooth-talking peddler made his appearance. He had, in a neat 50-cent package, a dead-shot powder for rats, mice, water bugs and roaches. Just spread bread and butter with a paste of the powder and you would make a slaughter field of their rendezvous in a single night. Mrs. B— is bothered with rats, et cetera, so she made the purchase. She spread the food according to directions, but the bugs had a feast off it before the larger animals got round, and asked for more. Yesterday another rat-poisoning peddler came on the scene and offered his package. "Not any, I thank you," said the housekeeper, and she related her experience of the day before. "Let me see it, please," said the polite man. He gazed and exclaimed, "Well, I'll be darned, if they haven't imitated our goods even to the string, label and paper. Wish I had hold of the fellow. He has sold you nothing but ashes." Then, because the woman had been so swindled, he sold her a package for 15 cents, and last night the bugs and animals had another banquet and are licking their chops and wondering at their good luck, while the two ashes men are banqueting on their proceeds just around the corner. The housewife warns others that wood ashes at 65 cents a teacupful will not rid a house of vermin.

CONTRACTS LET

For the Foundations of Two Large Buildings.

The National Union building committee last evening let the contract for the foundation for the new edifice to W. J. Spear, and work will be pushed vigorously.

Shaw, Kendall & Co. also awarded the contract for the foundation of the big addition about to be erected by this firm, to James Hill. Albert Neukom will do the stone work on both contracts.

SINKING FUND TRUSTEES

Hold a Meeting and Make Arrangements to Refund Bonds.

The board of sinking fund trustees, president G. W. Davis, in the chair, held a meeting yesterday and made arrangements to petition the council for the issuance of $100,000 of 4 1-2 per cent. bonds to refund a similar amount of 6s.

The newly appointed trustee, John A. Moore, qualified and took his seat at the board.

Judgments to the amount of about $1,500 were presented and ordered paid.

The board has a big undertaking before it next year, when nearly half a million bonds are to be refunded.

SUED FOR $10,000.

The Lake Shore Asked to Settle for Brakeman Eldred's Death.

In common pleas court to-day Eliza Eldred, administratrix of the estate of John A. Eldred, deceased, sued the Lake Shore railroad company to receive $10,000 for the death of her decedent.

The petition states that her husband was employed as brakeman on a Lake Shore freight train which ran into an open switch February 11, 1892, near Kendallville, Ind., and in the wreck which resulted her husband, the deceased, was killed. She claims that the company had failed to put up a switch light to warn the engineer of the proximity of the switch.

THE MATHIAS ORCHESTRA

Entertain a Number of Guests, Assisted by Miss Doolittle.

About 125 ladies and gentlemen responded to the invitations sent out by the Mathias orchestra for the first public rehearsal in their new quarters in the Chamber of Commerce building, last evening, and all were gratified. The orchestra did excellent work, and showed the careful training of Prof. Mathias in the selections, which were rendered in an almost faultless manner. Miss Doolittle, as usual, charmed her hearers with her solos. A number of associate members were added to the roll as a result of the rehearsal.

ORDERED ABATED

After Fining the Inmates—Bail Forfeited—Police Make a Haul.

Two young fellows about town giving the fictitious names of Sam Lang and George Frederick, tried to clean out Emma Berry's sporting house at 118 South Superior street. They succeeded in raising a good-sized disturbance, and as a result the place was raided by Sergeant Conway, and all concerned arrested. Lang and Frederick were charged with disturbance and put up $12.50 bail each, which they forfeited this morning by their non-appearance. Five other men giving the names of James Eckes, Nelson Peterson, Ellis Rozier, D. Liddine and Charles Laup, were also arrested for visiting the place and forfeited $15 bail each.

The girls arrested besides the keeper were Ellen Lee, Mame Coleman and Flora Stelmon. They were charged with residing in a house of ill fame and Emma Berry was charged with keeping the place. The women appeared in court this morning and pleaded guilty. The keeper was fined $50 and costs and the nuisance was ordered abated. The girls were fined $15 and costs each.

The place of Madam Berry's is one of the "swell" houses, and the real names of the men arrested would make something of a sensation if printed.

REPRESENTATIVE FLICKENGER

Will Not be a Candidate for Congressman.

Hon. C. A. Flickenger was in his old home at Defiance a part of this week, and fell into the hands of the newspaper man. He declares he is not in the race for congress. A portion of the Cresent's interview is as follows:

"How do you like the legislature?" inquired the reporter.

"I do not like it at all?" answered the Lucas county statesman. "It is too confining and is like being penned up in school. About once a week something occurs in which you are interested and the balance of the time you must content yourself with simply sitting in your seat and voting."

From the gentleman's remarks the inference may clearly be drawn that he will not be a candidate for a second term.

"How do you like your new congressional district?" was asked.

"It is all right. Any district suits me," said Mr. Flickenger.

"It has been reported that you are a candidate for congress from the new district."

"There is nothing in it," answered the silver-haired representative. "I have no such bounding ambition."

THE HATCH BILL.

Toledo Produce Exchange Resolves Against It.

At the noon session of the Produce exchange, Col. S. C. Reynolds offered the following relative to the Hatch bill, which was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, This exchange is informed that the Hatch bill, for the suppression of future trading in grain and other commodities, may soon come before the house of representatives for discussion and final disposition; and,

Whereas, We believe if such a bill is enacted into law, it will paralyze the business of the exchanges in this country, produce injurious effects in all business departments, as well as depress the price of the products intended, mistakenly, to be promoted by the passage of the bill; and,

Whereas, The protests of this exchange, the national banks, the millers, the vessel owners, and all the great interests of this city against the passage of this bill are on file in the senate proceedings in committee; therefore, be it

Resolved, That our member of congress, the Hon. Wm. E. Haynes, is respectfully and earnestly requested to use all reasonable efforts to defeat the consideration or the passage of the bill, because it antagonizes all the commercial interests in the district he represents.

ARRANGEMENTS PERFECTED

For the Reception to the Rt. Rev. Horstman.

Last evening the executive committee in charge of the proposed reception to Rt. Rev. Bishop Horstman met and further perfected the necessary arrangements.

The general committee will leave Toledo for Cleveland Saturday evening and will return with the Bishop on Sunday.

The school children will be given a prominent place in the parade. The teachers were given authority to make all the necessary arrangements for the children's display.

The committee on music reported progress. All the city bands have been secured for the occasion and several from outside towns will be present.

Communications were read from Ann Arbor, Delphos and other towns notifying the committee of the attention of the Catholics of those places to be present. The grand marshal was instructed to give these towns a place in the parade.

It was announced that the Wheeling & Lake Erie, Toledo & Ann Arbor, and the Clover Leaf railroad will run cheap excursions on the occasion of the corner stone laying.

A special meeting of the committee on entertainment has been called for next Sunday afternoon, when steps will be taken for the proper care and entertainment of the visiting delegations.

An adjourned meeting of the executive committee will be held next Thursday evening when the arrangements will be perfected by the appointment of sub-committees to escort the visitors from the various depots.

COL. DE WOLF

Raising Fruit and Cotton 'Way Down South in Dixie.

Friends of Col. DeWolf, who was formerly superintendent of Toledo public schools, will be gratified to learn of his success in his Georgia home. The following paragraph is credited to the Elyria Republican:

Col. D. F. DeWolf, formerly a professor of modern languages in Western Reserve college, and more recently state commissioner of public schools in Ohio, is now residing in Madison, Ga., on a plantation of 850 acres of excellent arable land. His fruit orchard of about 1,000 bearing trees, has produced fruit of great size and quality and is flourishing now with great prospects for this season. The colonel raises, too, more cotton than he will market, on account of the low price.

THE CATHOLIC CLUB.

The Ladies Entertain and All the Members Enjoy It.

Friendship hall was beautifully decorated last evening with evergreens, potted plants and cut flowers, which the ladies of the Catholic club had arranged. The entire program for the evening was in the hands of the ladies, and was carried out to the satisfaction of all present. Musical numbers were rendered by Mrs. Bartell, Mrs. Monks, and others, social conversation made the time flit by and cake and ice cream were furnished and served by the ladies. The gentlemen who enjoyed all these good things return thanks to all the lady members of the club.

THE CLOVER LEAF

Enjoined From Trespassing on Property wned by Paul Raymond.

In Common Pleas court to-day Paul Raymond instituted action against the Clover Leaf railroad company for an injunction and other relief.

The plaintiff in his petition sets up that he is the owner of lots 513,524, and 613 Vistula division.

He alleges that the railroad company has unlawfully and forcibly entered upon and taken possession of a portion of the lots in question, by placing stakes and lumber on the same, an dis now undertaking to toke complete possession of the lots by fencing in certain parts, thereby depriving him of the full rights and uses of his property.

Judge Lemmon granted a temporary injunction restraining the company from taking possession of the property in any manner whatever, from building, enclosing fences, or in any way interferring with the owner in the utility of the same.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Indorses the Strike of the Painters—"Jack" Lorden in Toledo.

At the regular meeting of the Central Labor union last night new delegates were seated from the coopers, brewers, tailors, butchers and horsecar employes' unions. The delegate from the butchers' union reported that the union has made a provision whereby any grocer or butcher who does not employ any men can obtain a union card by paying the initiation fee and dues of the union without becoming an active member, provided the union is satisfied with his principles.

The delegates from Painters' union No. 7 reported the condition of the strike, and on motion the following was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Painters' union, No. 7, of Toledo, O., are honorably fighting for a fair day's pay for a fair day's work, and have proven their union principles by their steadfast position; be it therefore

Resolved, That the Central Labor union extend to them not only our sincere sympathy, but also give them our moral, and ur financial support when it becomes necessary.

J. J. Lorden, of the glass workers, at one time president of the Central Labor union was present last evening and made the boys a little speech. Every one is delighted to know "Jack" is back again, 'for he is true blue, and not in it for what he can make out of it, iether.

HOUSE DECORATION.

Too Much Bric-a-Brac and Millinery in Our Parlors.

Pity every house decorator and furnisher in Toledo would not hear Edmund Russell's lecture on interior decoration. Not only does he show the true artistic feeling in every expression and direction, but he explains the ethics of harmony and inharmony in a manner that convinces and instructs. When colors are "fighting each other" in a room, we must become accustomed to the conflict before we can enjoy any beauty there may be in proximity to them. We have not yet learned the effectiveness of space. Any object which is not positively ornamental or genuinely useful in a room has no cause to be there. A woman bought a brass coal scuttle, a bit of finely executed repouse work. It was too small coals, too large for ornament, and so the glittering self-asserting thing wandered from mantle to table, from room to room all over the house, a discomforting spot whenever it rested because it had no possible excuse for being there. A Fifth avenue millionaire has electric blue brocade silk on his walls where thousands of dollars' worth of paintings are hung, literally destroying them for the beholder. The decorator told him it was the thing and so it went on, and being ten dollars a yard, it must stay, when brown wall paper, five cents a roll, in its place, would be a relief. One should never buy the smallest piece of furniture without samples of wall paper and carpet, and memory of the woods already in the room, in mind. The lecture was replete with sensible suggestions proving that art may and should enter into the practicalities of daily life. A costume rehearsal Saturday night closes the course. Single tickets may be had at Freeman's.

What's the matter with the Indiana democratic platform? It's all right.

There comes no response to the reminder that the republican convention in Harrison's own state declared in favor of paying dollar debts with 68-cent coin. If enough of these short dollars go the way they will, the Harrisonians will be satisfied.

It is argued that with the Shoreham and all, Levi Morton is so well fixed in Washington, he might as well be given the vice-presidential nomination. That is an excellent republican reason, but the heartless democrats may quite upset the culmination of the plan.

The more one studies the modus vivendi agreement which now temporarily ends the Bering sea trouble, with its indemnity claims for 1891 inserted by Lord Salisbury, the more evident it is that this jingo administration has not got the best end of the settlement.

Our national library contains 700,000 bound volumes and 200,000 pamphlets. The yearly increase is from 15 000 to 20,000 volumes. No wonder Mr. Spofford asks whither are we drifting? The new building which it will take four years more to complete will cover three acres and will hold 4,000,000 volumes.

And now it is Minister-to-Italy Porter who has quite enough of residence abroad and who concludes he wants to come home and joint in the campaign hurrah. Minister-to-Russia Smith is also on the "resigned" list. Mr. Porter sails for Rome to-day, but "goes to return" very soon, "glad," he says, "to settle down and spend the rest of his days in his own country."

The desire to get something for nothing is a weakness of human nature on which swindlers prey and wildcat schemes flourish. Bogus benefit societies arise, flourish and fall, and their numerous dupes teach nothing to the next over-eager victims who are roped in by promises of big returns without corresponding investments. Recent parliamentary investigations show 4,593 indoor paupers in England who have been brought from competency to pauperism by trusting their savings to such companies.

The Postoffice Savings bank, of the Dominion of Canada, with branches in almost every village of the country, has on deposit over twenty-three million dollars. That these accumulations are the savings of the poor is shown by the fact that the average single deposit is only a little over two hundred dollars. The system has a quarter of a century of success to commend it, and the habit of saving has grown upon people who know that their money is safe when the government is responsible for every dollar of it.

Senator Edmunds was thought to have done a very cute thing for Vermont when he had the maple sugar growers brought in with others to derive benefit from the sugar bounty. Like many another bit of class legislation the sugar bounty law is not acting as was anticipated. Vermont produces fifteen million pounds of maple sugar annually. Canada not less than twenty million pounds. Since the bounty law went into effect Canada has sent twenty carloads of maple sugar product over the border to one carload sent before. Hence Congressman Powers, of Vermont, at the request of his constituents, has introduced a bill to restore the old condition of duty tax and no bounty, the same condition which was removed for the same constituency by Senator Edmunds.

A correspondent of a London paper, who has just finished a journey through the famine districts of Russia, says the peasants are never thought of by their government, or their condition in any respect considered, until they are unable to pay taxes to support the army, and the government in its royal magnificence. Their lands are exhausted, their forests are cut down, and the present famine is not simply an incident of the year, but the beginning of governmental bankruptcy. Not only are the peasant farmers starving, but their cattle and horses are starving with them. These are being driven out of the stricken provinces before they are too weak to move, to be sold for what they will fetch to buy bread. The seed time finding the farmers in this stripped condition has in it no promise for the future.

The most reckless of republican organs dare not come to Raum's defense. He has confessed to shameless partisanship in the conduct of his office and to an utter defiance of civil service law. These offenses are easily condoned by a president who has, himself, broken his civil service pledges all to flinders. But the financial crookedness, the refrigerator business, the Lemon dicker in which public power was used to serve personal and gainful ends; the admission that unprecedented pension-claim activity in Indiana was "because that state is a doubtful one politically"; the mean conspiring to blacken the character of Congressman Cooper; the borrowing of money made easy by virtue of official position, the insulting of women by his officers—it would seem that from this catalogue of misdemeanors, the details of which are convincing and disgusting, that the democrats have done the country a service in unearthing the corruption that veins the conduct of this department through and through.

THE COLORED MAN'S FOE.

A convention of colored people will be held in Cincinnati in July next, the avowed object of which is "to devise a plan to call the attention of the American people and of the world to the condition of the colored people in the United States." The pity is our colored citizens cannot understand that conventions, denunciations, and resolutions, will not help them. The attention of the world is sufficiently called to their case. It is known they are better conditioned and more advanced in civilization than is their race anywhere else on the face of the earth. They are absolutely free in this great country to roam from the lakes to the gulf to find the best spot and no man can say them nay. The Russian peasant must not leave his little patch of alloted ground. The American Negro may cast his lot in Boston or in Galveston, under the palm trees of San Bernardino or the pine trees of Maine, and he is his own master. If he believes he has political enemies in the south and political friends in the north, he has only to move a little way to make the change. He has tried Liberia, where his own people rule, and is only too glad to come back to his old abiding place. He cannot understand that the United States is a better place than Liberia because white men with their skill, education and enterprise have made it so. There is nothing left for him to do but to improve himself, possess himself of property—some of his race have done this, others may—and so grow in strength and influence as nearly into the state of equality as nature has made possible. The combined efforts of the civilized world cannot help him, he must help himself. His present-day wrongs are pale compared with those inflicted on the robbed, driven, cheated Indians. The politicians of the north who stir him up to rebellion for partisan purposes are his worst enemies. He would better stay at home and plant his fields and study his arithmetic and spelling-book than to be exploiting himself in conventions to "call the attention of the world" to his needs.

Mary Griep is her name. She lives in Cincinnati. When the Western Union Telegraph company began to dig a hole in the midst of her mother's sidewalk she noticed how they sassed the rest of the family when objections were raised to such proceeding. Miss Griep just seized her chair and planked it down over the hole when the shovel man wasn't looking and sat down in it, and all the policemen on the street couldn't budge her, and "if she's not gone she's sitting there still," but she has probably gone in to supper, as the company has ordered its men away and agrees to dig no more on Mistress Griep's premises.

Another rich man's idle son, a "roaring good fellow," after squandering his patrimony in riotous living, took the gold cure for drunkenness, was pronounced recovered, went on a big jag, shot himself to kill and now lies low in a New York hospital. "A bright, handsome fellow, scarcely more than a boy," says the account. There is a whole book of sermons contained in this brief story.

Roswell Smith, president of the Century company, recently deceased, was the first publisher to place American magazines on the news stands in European cities. He lived to enjoy the abundant fruits of his venture as the Century is to be seen at every corner and on every well-stocked reading table in the world's centers of civilization.

Hawthorne's romance, "The Scarlet Letter," on which the copyright has just expired, is being furnished as a serial to its newspaper customers by a "plate-matter syndicate." This romance was published in 1850, but it is not much older reading than most of the syndicate matter.

The New York Recorder says the legislature of that state has done one commendable thing in the opening of the Metropolitan Museum Sundays. The Mail and Express condemns it to perdition for the same thing. And thus do the organs of the goody party agree.

If the influence of the press of the Atlantic and Gulf states is felt in congress, that body will make such an appropriation for an international naval review next year as will bring about a display from New York harbor to New Orleans, and at all ports between.

EUGENE H. COWLES DEAD.

Cleveland, April 22.—A brief dispatch received in this city to-day announced that Eugene H. Cowles died at El Paso, Tex., at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been in Texas for the past two months seeking to recuperate his health, which had greatly improved up to last Saturday. At that time he was attacked by a hemorrhage, which continued until yesterday, finally resulting in his death. He was the eldest son of the late Edwin Cowles, founder and editor of the Leader.

CURRENT COMMENT.

In their more prosperous days our republican friends would have been ashamed to crow themselves hoarse over a victory in Rhode Island.—Buffalo Courier.

Can it be that any interest besides that of the old soldier is ever thought of in the pension office at Washington? Late developments cause painful misgivings.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

If Elliot Shepard, by climbing up some other way, should ever succeed in getting into heaven, he would immediately begin to agitate for a law against wearing haloes and playing harps Sunday.—Memphis Commercial.

The idea of having all the school children in the United States appropriately celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus October 12, 1892, is worthy of adoption. By all means, let the children observe the day.—St. Louis Republic.

No one but a fool or a knave would pretend to doubt the sincerity of Mr. Blaine's declaration that he is not a presidential candidate, and nothing has happened since his letter was written that can possibly be distorted into an indication that he has changed his mind.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

The Oklahoma delegate to the Minneapolis convention will be a full-blooded Indian, who is a lineal descendent of Tecumseh, the Indian chief who was defeated by William Henry Harrison. It will be a dramatic event when my grandfather's paint and feathers raises a war whoop for my grandfather's hat.—Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

Senator Sherman expresses lofty contempt for Senator Hill because the New York man has evaded committing himself upon the silver question. Mr. Sherman having fully mastered the art of occupying both sides of the financial problem is properly scornful of the man who will occupy neither.—Chicago Times.

The very remarkable legislature now in session in New York appropriated $300,000 for the world's fair exhibit, with a provision that the exhibit be closed on Sundays. It then appropriated $75,000 annually for maintaining a Museum of Natural History in New York city on condition that the museum be kept open on Sundays. The distinction is probably due to a desire to improve the morals of Chicago.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Republican papers are flattering themselves that the result of the election in Jersey City places New Jersey in the doubtful column on presidential issues. There is little danger of that. The vote on Tuesday last showed an uprising against a ring that ruled with a high hand, and honest democrats proved that they desired purity in municipal affairs as well as good government in national affairs. The cleaning out of the ring will add strength to the party, and New Jersey may be as safely counted for the democracy as it has been in past presidential elections.—Rochester Herald.

MR. POE WAS NOT IN IT

The Band Did Not Meet Him as Per Contract,

And the Statesman is Much Disgruntled — The Forakerites Turned Down and Squire and Griffin Were Shut Out.

The Sherman men had a field day at Bowling Green yesterday.

The Chester-Squire-Griffin combination got its first set back, and the Sherman forces carried everything.

State Auditor Poe and Representative James were to see that the proper slate ffwas fixed and pushed through. They were unable to carry out their contract.

Poe was not in even at the funeral. He wired on ahead for James to have a band at the depot.

The Sherman men got an inkling of this and rushed things through with a whirl, so that when Poe reached the scene of conflict the battle was over.

Poe was to have been indorsed for delegate-at-large, but his name was not even mentioned. J. R. Hankey for district delegate was also turned down by Auditor J. B. Wilson.

The entire delegation selected is Sherman through and through, and Messrs. Squire, Griffin, et al are consequently wroth.

Poe blames James, and Squire blames both, and between the two fires James has a hard time of it explaining how it didn't occur.

There is a beautiful fight all along the line, and Sherman is again in the saddle.

HE WAS TOO FOXY.

Celina, O., April 22.—Oliver Hancock, a farmer living near Port Jefferson, recently received a "green goods" circular, and one day telegraphed the party in New York city and paid the toll upon the telegram, which was 40 cents, asking them to send him a sample of the "queer." Yesterday he received a letter from them enclosing a genuine one dollar bill. He says he got ahead of them 60 cents, and don't think he will invest any more.

THE GREAT TRUNK TRUST

Toledo Represented in a Gigantic Combine.

The J. B. Shepler Factory Goes Into the Deal—The Capital Stock Fixed at $2,500,000—The Officers.

The trunk trust is the latest combine on the tapis.

A week ago a committee of Chicago and St. Louis trunk manufacturers called on Mr. J. B. Shepler, the well-known trunk manufacturer of this city, with a view of having him go into a trust.

The combine was consummated at Oshkosh yesterday. It will be known as the National Trunk company, and the capital stock is $2,500,000. The headquarters of the trust will be in Chicago.

The management of the several companies will remain with the local owners as will the title to the properties. The factories will be leased to the national concern and the product controlled from Chicago. The officers of the new corporation, which is under the laws of Illinois, are as follows: President, J. C. Schmur, Chicago; secretary, Joseph Hartmann, Racine.

It is stated upon unquestionable authority that all of the big concerns in the business in Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Racine, Oshkosh and other places are already in the combine, or else have the subject under favorable consideration.

Mr. Shepler was seen this morning by a Bee, but was very reticent. He said:

"It was absolutely necessary that something should be done. There has been nothing in our business for seven or eight years on account of close competition."

"Are you in the combine, Mr. Shepler?"

He smiled and intimated that he did not care to say.

"If I am not in it, it is probable I will be. Yes, I guess our concern will be in it."

A NEW SECRETARY

Elected by the Mutual Aid Building Association.

Theodore Schmidt Retires on Account of Business—Arnold Machen Chosen to Fill the Vacancy.

At the last meeting of the board of directors of the Mutual Aid Building and Loan association, Secretary Theodore Schmidt presented his resignation. The board at first refused to accept, but Mr. Schmidt insisted for the reason that a pressure of business demanded that one of his projects be disposed of, and the building association was the only one that could be relinquished with convenience, and the resignation was accepted.

Mr. Schmidt has been the secretary of this association ever since the organization, and to his conservative business methods and shrewd management is greatly due the success attained by the Mutual Aid. The board adopted resolutions expressing appreciation of Mr. Schmidt's faithful efforts in behalf of the interests of the company, and the splendid accomplishments resulting from his good work.

Arnold Machen was then elected to succeed Mr. Schmidt, and the change will take effect May 1. Mr. Machen is a man of sterling business ability, and the affairs of the company will flourish in his hands.

THE PRICE OF GAS.

Col. Tonkin Thinks that the Rate Will be Fixed

At or Between Twenty and Twenty-five Cents — The Talk About Selling to Detroit Alone all Bosh.

Considerable comment is rife as to what action the Northwestern Natural Gas company will take with regard to the price of fuel gas to Toledo.

The Bee announced a short time ago that the price would probably be 20 cents and possibly more.

This statement is corroborated by Manager Tonkin of the Northwestern in the following interview with a Bee this morning:

The report that the Northwestern intends to leave Toledo when the contract with the city expires is all bosh, much action has never been broached, much less discussed. Of the different cities, the company has no favorite. We look upon such matters strictly from an business standpoint.

"Our contract as it stands with Toledo at the present time is not a paying investment, and we must have more money for gas. It is practically decided that the rate will be fixed at 20 cents, or 25 cents. These two figures are under discussion, and it will be one of the two, no more and no less. Gas at either of these figures is cheaper than coal."

TIFFIN NOTES.

Tiffin, O., April 22.—Omar Seitz, son of Hon. John Seitz, of this county, was killed on a sheep ranch near Sweetwater, Texas, yesterday by being thrown from his horse. He was aged about 35, and had a family.

Martin Sheridan, an aged man at the infirmary near this city, was fatally gored by a cow which he was milking, yesterday.

CLAUDE MATTHEWS,

Candidate of the Indiana Democrats for Governor.

Indianapolis, April 22.—Claude Matthews, the nominee of the Hoosier democrats for governor, was born December 14, 1845, at Bethel, Bath county, Ky. He graduated at Center college, Danville, Ky., in June, 1867. He married January 1, 1868, Martha R. Whitcomb, the only child of the late James Whitcomb, who was governor of Indiana in 1843 and 1846.

Mr. Matthews moved to Vermillion county in 1869, and located on a farm three miles west of Clinton, where he has resided ever since, engaged in farming and stock breeding.

In 1876 he was elected to the legislature. In 1890 he was elected secretary of state by a plurality of nearly 20,000. He has always been a democrat, and never engaged in any other business than that of farming. He is a member of the Farmers' Mutual Benefit association, and is expected to receive great support from the agricultural organizations, being usually denominated "the farmer candidate."

Mortimer Nye was selected for lieutenant governor.

The following candidates were then nominated by acclamation and the convention adjourned:

Secretary of state, Wm. R. Myers; auditor of state, John Oscar Henderson; treasurer of state, Albert Gall; attorney general, Alonzo Green Smith; reporter supreme court, Sydney I. Moon; superintendent of public instruction, Wm. A. Peele.

THE FIRING OF REVOLVERS

Causes Considerable Excitement at Noon.

A Prisoner Makes a Desperate Attempt to Escape from Officers, but Is Safely Landed—The Charges Against the Man.

Considerable excitement was caused on St. Clair street, at noon to-day, by a chase after a criminal, conducted under the auspices of Detective Manly and O'Brien They had arrested Henry Rudolph on Summit street, and while conducting him to the central station he broke away from his captors on Monroe street and ran up the alley between Summit and St. Clair street with the officers in hot pursuit. O'Brien Fired two shots in the air to frighten the man, but he only ran the faster, and turning into a cross alley reached St. Clair street and continued his dash for liberty up this street causing a great commotion, and instantly a dozen men had joined the chase.

Officer Manly boarded an electric car and O'Brien a dray and they had just about overtaken their man when he was stopped by Nathaniel Brown, a colored man, who was on the sidewalk at the Bundy house.

He turned Rudolph over to the officers and they returned with him to the station.

Rudolph was arrested on a charge of grand larceny for stealing gold from the Libbey glass works. In the manufacture and coloring of certain kinds of glassware $5 gold pieces are put into the acid coloring solution in order to make the right tint. For some time it had been noticed that the color was weak, and finally it was discovered that somebody had been stealing the gold coins from the solution, and on the 11th of this month 16 coins were taken.

Rudolph had formerly worked for the Libbey company, but for some months had been out of work, yet he had been loafing about the glass works very frequently. The detectives who had taken the case fund that Rudolph had been selling mutilated $5 gold pieces to some of the manufacturing jewelers, and they were about to fasten the crime upon him when he disappeared.

This morning they met him on Summit street between Adams and Madison, and placed him under arrest, when he made the desperate attempt to escape.

FIRE IN FINDLAY.

Findlay, O., April 22.—(Special)—Spontaneous combustion caused a fire in the mattress factory of D. Rummell & Sons, situated on East street(at 11 o'clock this morning.

Loss about $1,500; insured for about half.

The dwelling of Fred Joph, adjoining, was damaged about $200.

When he married ole Jones' darter Jen.

But he drank, as he al'ays has, an' she
Grew peaked, an' pale, an' gray
Afore the time when she'd oughter be.
Folks said 't he usetta beat her, but she
Had a proud an' a haughty way,
An' she didn't hanker for sympathy.

So she died, with nary a word o' complaint.
But Bill kep' a drinkin' along
In the same ole way. 'T'ud pervoke a saint
To see how worthless he got. Ther ain't
No man as ever went wrong
'T had much more o' the drunkard's taint.

One day ole Barnes give a terrible yell
'T were heerd all over the town.
Ole Barnes was the outside boss. We c'd tell
By the way he hollered, 't merry hell
Was loose in the mine; an' down
To the yard ran women an' men, pell-mell.

"The mine has caved in, an' ther's fifteen men
In the furthest chamber," he said.
You bet ther was awful excitement then,
For we knowed ef the fire damp reached them men
They'd every mother's son be dead
Afore they'd see daylight again.

O' course ther was plenty o' volunteers
To go down an' help—or die;
An' they went, in spite o' the women's tears,
An' all we c'd do was to give 'em cheers.
Bill was a standin' by,
As no 'count then, as he had been for years.

It warn't but a little while, afore
They come up as quick as they could;
An' out o' the resculn' party, four
Was so nigh death, 't a leetle more
Would ha' done 'em up for good.
The fire damp had kept 'em f'm goin' lower.

Ther was fifteen women standin' there
'T we didn't dast to face,
For ther wasn't a man of us then, 't dare
When the others had failed, go down to where
The fire damp filled the place.
Then Bill stepped up with a keerless air,

Says he: "I reckon I'd better go.
I ain't use up here.
I may git through, f'r I happen to know
The ole North lead. Ef the water's low
I kin reach 'em, or get so near
"I kin tell 'em they may have a livin' show."

We let him go down in the mine alone.
He was on'y a no 'count man.
Some cheered, an' some said: "He'd oughter
'a' known
What a fool trick 'tis to go down alone."
When he'd gone, we c'd on'y stan'
An' listen to how them women made moan.

It's hard to tell how he did it, but Bill
He got thar with all four feet.
Through the old North lead he swum, until
He c'd signal the men. Then they picked with a will Till they broke through. Bill was beat,
But they fetched him out with the life in him still.

An' he sets in the tavern, day in an' day out,
As no 'count as ever. But, friend,
Yer'd better not turn up yer nose, 'ithout
Yer want all the women that's here about
To git down on yer, world 'ithout end.
What! Yer'll ask him ter drink? Now yer shout.

—David A. Curtis.

FALLING OVER A PRECIPICE

Is a terrible thing, even in dreams. The victim of this frequent form of nightmare awakes with a start and a cry; his limbs bathed in cold perspiration, his heart thumping tremendously. Moral: Don't sleep on your back, particularly if you are troubled with dyspepsia and nervousness, and use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to cure these joint troubles. For sleeplessness, the inseparable attendant of chronic dyspepsia, and its offspring as well, the Bitters is a surpassing remedy. The disordered stomach is the progenitor of numberless harassing symptoms, and the organs of thinking is a faithful reflector of its disturbance, in which the liver and bowels also share. If we are to restore quietude to the brain and nervous system, we must reinforce the stomach and regulate the action of the digestive, secretive and evacuative organs. Prevent and remedy malaria, inactivity of the kidneys and bladder, debility, heartburn, sick headache and la grippe with this remedy, which has received the unqualified sanction of eminent physicians.

The anniversary services which were to have been held at St. Andrew's chapel to-night, have been postponed to next week.

A KNIGHT OF LABOR.

"Why Mrs. Halloran, where is your clock?"

"Sure, Pat fired it out."

"Phat did he do that for?'

"Well, ye know he is walking diligate for his district now, and says the devil a clock he'd have that wouldn't strike."

BEES.

In many countries of the world, most especially in England, France, and Germany, not only peasants, but the middle classes and the nobles believe that bees are curiously and mysteriously connected with the weal or woe of the human family in general. It is a common saying in all the English shires that bees do not "do well" when the red-coats are engaged in wars abroad.

SUPERSTITIONS ABOUT SNAKES.

The ancients firmly believed in monster serpents of all kinds and of both the land and marine species. During the wars with Carthage a great snake is said to have kept the Roman army from crossing the Bagrades river for several days.

A PIG WITH A HORN.

A pig with a horn growing from the center of its forehead is said to be a Morgantown (N. C.) curiosity.

Antoine Juritch, living at Dresnika, is said to be 130 years old. He still works in his vineyard and goes to church every Sunday, although it is a two hours' walk away. His eyes are good, and his eyebrows grow so that they have to be cut to prevent them from obscuring his sight. His mother died at the age of 120, but his father died young.

ON HISTORIC GROUND.

The German maneuvers of 1892 are expected to take place over the historic triangle of ground which lies between Metz, Thionville, and Saarbruck. The Eighth and Sixteenth corps, quartered on the Rhine and Metz, are those designated for the interesting exercises, and it is said the emperor will take up his quarters at the Chateau d'Urvill, which he recently purchased, notwithstanding its name.

MY BOYHOOD'S WATCH.

I have got a brand-new golden watch,
With a beautiful pearl set in it;
From the spring's first blow till the fall of the snow
It keeps the time to a minute.
I have set it down in my will to my boy,
And hope when I'm gone he'll wear it;
'Twas a present to me from over the sea,
And I love the hand that bare it.
But my father gave me one long ago,
When I was a lad yet growing;
How can I part with a thing near my heart?
So I keep the old watch going.

You will find but right little gold in that,
And no pearl its face adorning;
But I thought it grand when I took it in hand
On my thirteenth birthday morning.
And my mother fastened a chain to its ring,
And my sister added a locket;
And I never felt since so much like a prince
As when first it went into my pocket.
My parents are dead, and my sister sank
Where the Indian waves are flowing;
But the light of the past shall shine on to the last,
So I keep the old watch going.

It is strange what oddities sometimes wake
Good thoughts that have long lain sleeping;
For the great blows fall, and scarce move us at all,
But the little things set us weeping.
I'm afraid that my life has not been what it should,
And habit's a terrible fetter;
But my pulse beats quick when I list to that tick,
And I earnestly wish to be better.
O I think that I see new hopes for me,
And a brighter prospect glowing;
Though my heart be chill, 'twould be colder still
If my boyhood's watch stopped going.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Cox, of Calhoun county, West Virginia, have just become, at the age of 64 and 67 years respectively, the parents of twin boys. This is their third pair of twins.

The autographs of nearly all of the English kings from Henry VI. (1540) to George II. and the kings and queens of England since the second George are contained in the remarkable collection of J. Pierpont Morgan, the banker.

Several medical journals assert that the young women of to-day are better developed physically, taller, plumper, stronger, and healthier than the young women of 50, 100, 150 or 200 years ago.

Kate Field says that in England nobody but a rough or a genius can wear any other hat than a stovepipe, and that seems to explain why Alfred Tennyson sticks so resolutely to his soft slouch hat.

In Rome a few tourists still hire balconies on the Corso, whence to throw flowers at other tourists, while they themselves are the targets of a mob of ruffianly boys armed with decayed vegetables. This is all that is left of the Roman carnival.

The army register for 1892 shows that of the 1,589 officers of the line in active service there are but 34 who were commissioned officers previous to 1861, viz: Nineteen colonels, eleven lieutenant colonels and four majors, the last, of course, in the artillery.

Hunters near Caledonia, Pa., are excited over a snow-white deer, seen several times recently in the mountains. It it said to be a large buck, with spreading antlers and as fleet as the wind. A party of hunters who saw the animal last fired at it, but failed to hit it.

The dark continent is now completely encircled by submarine telegraph, more than 17,000 miles of cable having been employed in effecting it, and several companies with more or less aid from the British, French, Spanish and Portuguese governments, have participated in carrying out the work.

Considerable annoyance is said to have been inflicted by the students of the university of Berlin upon Miss Gentry, the American girl, who won the European scholarship of the Association of College Alumnae, and who has been allowed to listen to lectures on mathematics in the Berlin university.

Nicholas, the new bishop of the Greek church in America, has arrived in San Francisco. He was formerly bishop of Tiflis in Asia Minor. When the reporters tried to interview him, they could not induce him to talk for publication, but he is a handsome Russian, and seeks to avoid needless formalities.

The London Daily Graphic has offered a prize of £100 to the person who suggests the best means of communicating between a wrecked ship and the shore. Three experts, one of whom is an admiral of the British navy, have been appointed judges of the various recommendations that may be submitted. The Graphic hopes that many Americans will take part in this competition.

A bulletin recently issued from the census office at Washington shows that according to the federal census of 1890 the United States have three cities of over 1,000,000 inhabitants each; seven of over 400,000; 28 over 100,000; 58 over 50,000; 124 over 25,000; 216 over 15,000; 354 over 10,000; 713 over 5,000; and 3,715 over 1,000. No other country has anything like so many populous towns.

Cornelius Vanderbilt has become dissatisfied with his palatial residence on Fifth avenue, New York, and will build a new one at a cost of $2,000,000. This palace is to be erected on Fifth avenue, between Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth streets, and will be the most magnificent in the city. It is said that the ball-room and private theater of the new house will be large enough to accommodate the entire four hundred.

The most merciful way to destroy cats is to chloroform them. Draw a sock (knitted one preferred, as being elastic) over pussy's head so that the toe of the sock is brought to her head, or nearly so; then pour about half a teaspoonful of chloroform on the sock close to her nose. Almost as soon as she has become frightened by the unusual smell of chloroform she goes quietly off to sleep; a little more chloroform is added—perhaps twice—and pussy never wakes again.

Bishop Walden is one of the busiest of men. When he travels he always carries a bag of books and a portfolio with writing materials. But in writing a sermon on a train, which he does very often, he cares not a whit about the kind of paper he uses, or whether he has a pen or pencil. Last year the bishop was, most of the time, on the go, and if he did not utilize his railroad journeys to prepare for special sermons, the chances are that the sermons would have to go unwritten.

A New York builder has made arrangements with leading firms by which the purchasers of his houses can buy everything needed to furnish them (from cellar to garret) at hotel rates. A novel feature, subject to cetain reasonable conditions, provides that in case the purchaser should die at any time after making his first payment, the unpaid instalments will be canceled. This will encourage buyers who would like to own a house instead of paying rent, but who fear they may die before completing the purchase, and their families suffer loss in consequence.

The statement is made that Milton's publishers paid the poet only $50 for his "Paradise Lost." At such a rate of literary remuneration it is no wonder that the old-time British author passed most of his existence in prison for debt or spent his days dodging the bailiff, as Goldsmith did. At the present time "Gath" or Frank Carpenter can earn $50 by a couple of hours' dictation, sometimes, alas! for scrapbooks, to a deft-fingered typewriter girl. And even the hall-bedroom syndicate man is almost as well remunerated for a few "graphic" tales of life in a large city. But in the matter of fame's record, posthumous though it be, Milton has the bulge on the little fellows.

In one of the palaces at Berlin is a vast collection of the personal effects of the imperial Hohenzollerns—jewelry, swords, coats, helmets, pipes, walking-sticks and other royal relicts of a long line of kings. It would be interesting to know if the famous walkin-sticks of Frederick the Great's father is among this collection. The old king's cane, of which the great Frederick often felt the smart, had much to do in the making of the greatest of Prussian rulers. Sometimes young Frederick got a beating from it that made him lame for weeks, but the good effects lasted a lifetime. The present kaiser had a more peaceful childhood, and some people think that the sparing of the rod had much to do with the spoiling of the child.

MURDER WILL OUT.

"Yes," said the policeman, "we officers see many strange sights, and have many strange adventures."

We were sitting around the stove in the depot, waiting for the down train, and had gotten into conversation with the policeman on duty at the station.

"Well," said I, "if you have a good story, let us have it."

He laughed, and replied, good-humoredly:

"I was thinking, when you spoke, of an occurrence that came under my observation only a few days ago, and which seemed to me one of the strangest things I ever knew.

"Sixteen years ago there was a rough tavern in the the lower part of the city, intended for sailors and steerage passengers. The tavern was built just on the edge of the water, and its place is now occupied by a warehouse. Its back windows opened right on the harbor, so that anything dropped from them would fall into the river.

"The man who kept this tavern was a rough, fierce-looking fellow of about forty. He had once been a sailor, and his dark forbidding aspect accorded well with his general reputation.

"Sixteen years ago there arrived from California a packet ship, which brought, among others, two men who returned from the diggings. She came in so late at night that she simply dropped anchor up the harbor without trying to get to her warf in the darkness. The two men I have spoken of, being very anxious to get on shore, prevailed on the captain to land them, and it so happened that he put them ashore at Jonas Halsey's tavern. It was after midnight, and Halsey was just closing his house when the men came to him and asked for lodgings until morning. In a few minutes Halsey, who was a real good questioner, gained from them that they had just returned from the gold regions. In reply to his question as to whether they had been successful, they laughed and said 'not very,' which to any man of sense would have been proof that they had plenty of cash with them.

Halsey showed the guests to their chamber, which was in the rear of the building, and directly over the water. After this he went back to his bar, closed the door and put out the lights.

"The two men went to bed as soon as they were shown their room. It might have been an hour or more afterwards when one of them was aroused by a noise. Looking up he saw his landlord strike his companion a heavy blow with an axe. Springing up he tried to seize his knife, but before he could do so, Halsey, who was a powerful man, clutched him and wrenched the knife from him. A fierce struggle ensued, the stranger being gradually forced back to the window. Finally Halsey struck the knife into his side with a terrible blow, and then, hurling the man back, threw him out of the window. His companion, who had been killed by the fatal blow of the axe, was flung into the water also. The tide was running out rapidly, and Halsey was sure the bodies would be carried out with it.

"The next morning Halsey was missing. No one but himself had known of the arrival of his unfortunate guests, and the blood upon the floor and window-sill was a great mystery. At last, however, we came to believe that Halsey had been murdered in this room by some unknown party, and thrown into the water.

"I was quite a young chap at that time, and had not then joined the police force; but the affair made an impression on me. I had frequently seen Halsey, and I knew him well by sight. As the time passed on, however, I forgot the affair and would not have remembered it had it not been brought to my mind in a strange way.

"A few days ago a man came in here to wait for the train. He was such a rascally looking fellow that he at once attracted my attention.

"Just then I happened to look up and saw a man standing in the doorway, looking at my man with a startled savage expression. As he did so he uttered an exclamation of pain.

"'Anything wrong, sir?' I asked.

"'No,' he replied, 'I still suffer from a wound in the breast which I received in this city 16 years ago.'

"I saw the first man start and turn quickly towards the speaker.

"'How was that?' I asked, carelessly.

"'Well, you see,' said the stranger, and I could see that he was still watching Halsey closely, 'sixteen years ago I landed here, in company with a friend. We had just come back to California, where we had made a great deal of money, and, like fools, we had it all with us. We put up for the night at a sailors' tavern on the shore, intending to start for an inland town the next day. During the night I was aroused to find the landlord murdering my companion. I tried to defend myself, but after a struggle he stabbed me and threw me out of the window into the water. The tide carried me out into the harbor, where I was picked up by a brig. I've been looking for that landlord ever since.'

"'Do you think you'll ever catch him?' I asked.

"With the rapidity of light the stranger wheeled around, springing to his feet, and faced Halsey. Laying his hand on his shoulder he said coolly:

"'I have found him. This is the man. Arrest him officer.'

"Halsey seemed completely stunned. The shock deprived him of all power of resistance. I secured him, and soon had him at the station house. The next day he confessed the whole thing."—New York News.

AMERICAN ART AND ARTISTS

As Seen by a Foreign Connoisseur and Painter.

Madame Marie Leip-Heimer Talks Entertainingly With a Bee on the Appreciation of Art in Europe and America.

Usually that which is written of art partakes of a poetical nature rather than a practicable solution of its importance. It would be beneficial to many if the advantages of cultivating a love for art, especially art in the household, could be presented in a plain and simple manner. Common sense arguments may be found powerful with many who are not pleased to soar into the realms of high flights. Art has a civilizing effect upon our senses and should become a part of us to a great extent.

Madame Marie Leip-Heimer, of New York, who was registered at the Hamilton this week, and who has traveled abroad and at home and been in a position to gain the different new tastes and sentiments entertained by the American people in regard to art, kindly expressed ideas to a Bee which will be appreciated by its readers. In answer to the question, "How is art looked upon by Americans in general?" she replied:

"As I was showing a work of art to a lady recently, I turned to a reproduction of 'The Gleaners,' a picture containing such a depth of meaning that I cannot look at it long at a time without being affected; she gazed at it for a moment and remarked 'O, how cute!' There was no conception of what the picture represented and therefore, no appreciation. This is a fair example of an everyday occurrence. American people lack warmth of sentiment, and it will require the intermingling of Americans and foreign nations century-bred in art, before Americans can produce the results obtained in the older countries. In Leipsic one-third of the students are American born, while the remaining two-thirds are composed of nearly every nationality; yet the foreign students show better results than the American for this reason, Americans are more frivolous and do not make a profound study of art, thus forming a solid foundation. They take the brush too soon and are not thorough enough in fundamental principles; while it is a part of the foreigner's education to master what he undertakes. Abroad we must earn the name before the fame. A master is one whose work is considered beyond criticism, whether he be a blacksmith, an artist, or musician. Here anyone is called 'professor.' While abroad one usually visits the Palace of the Louvre, which is devoted to the royal museum of painting and sculpture. You will frequently hear them say, 'I spent a day at the Louvre,' when a description of what that building contains would fill a volume. It would be otherwise if more attention was paid to works of art in America from a scientific standpoint. They would with intense anticipation be suddenly merged into the reality, the glowing associations of the place, while the vast multitude of subjects which burst upon the mind would completely distract the attention. It is of course, only after repeated visits to this world of paintings, and a degree of familiarity with its entrancing scenery that the mind can comprehend advantageously the individual works of great artists or to compare their distinctive merits, yet a novice with even a slight conception of what he is looking at can under the influence of natural emotions, and exercising the principles of common sense and observation give the impressions which the works of art make upon his mind.

"In Europe drawing is made an indispensible branch in all schools, public and private. It is pursued not only as a means of improving the taste and cultivating a love for the beautiful, but as having an important relation to the practical business of life. The American is apt to look upon drawing in a course of study, as ornamental only—calculated at the most but to cultivate the taste and elevate and refine the sentiments; but the French, in addition to the influence of beautiful art, connect it directly with the common pursuits of life and make it a necessary acquisition to every artisan who would excel in his trade. Here the exercise is engaged in to merely while away the time or as a relief from more irksome studies.

"The reason why many American artists go abroad and are successful is because they meet with appreciation, both internally and externally. The great attention given to art throughout the country, the vast gardens in which every form of nature is displayed, public monuments adorned with the richest ancient sculpture, the immense collection of paintings with which Paris and all important towns are filled, and entirely free and accessible to everybody, are educational influences silently but unceasingly forming in the soul the spiritual essence of art.

"Can a person who is not naturally gifted or who does not possess a talent for art ever become through practice an artist?"

"To those who have an earnest desire to accomplish their aim, the genius of learning always lends a listening ear, and never fails to dispense her favors generously when thus wooed.

"It is not necessary to be an artist to enjoy and appreciate art, but it requires a mental conception of the true meaning of the subject in question. Children, especially, enjoy looking at pictures and studying them more than some people suppose. They remember the picture viewed in childhood long after other pictures might have been expected to drive it out of their heads, and as a matter of cultivation and the story which it implies a child's taste may be greatly influenced by the habitual contemplation of a print of Raphael or Rembrandt.

Many people who pride themselves on their blue blood would be far happier with pure blood; but, while we cannot choose our ancestors, fortunately, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, we can transmit pure blood to our posterity.

SENSATION AT CELINA.

Celina, O., April 22.—Quite a sensation was caused here by the newly elected mayor, C. C. This is a good starter for Gable, and he says that he is going to civilize this city.

WHAT IT REALLY IS.

The Most Dangerous of Modern Disorders Clearly Defined—Pneumonia and What Causes It.

There has been a great mistake as to what pneumonia really is. People, and even some physicians, have called it a dangerous disease. Pneumonia is always an after effect. If the system is run down, weakened, debilitated, if the life is at a low ebb, the lungs may fill up and the person die suddenly, and it is called pneumonia. No man or woman ever died of pneumonia when the body was strong, vigorous and healthy. It comes upon one when weakened by grip, by a severe cold or overwork and a generally weakened condition. Such being the case, how can this dreadful trouble known as pneumonia be prevented or warded off? Manifestly, by strengthening and fortifying the body by having the health and strength so secure that pneumonia will not attack, or if it should, can easily be warded off. This can be done by careful living, careful diet and a moderate use of a pure stimulant. To gently assist nature a stimulant is required, something that adds to the life and vigor. Nothing for this purpose can equal pure whiskey, and it should be borne in mind that the only pure and medicinal whiskey which has received the unqualified indorsement of physicians and scientists is Duffy's Pure Malt. It is no ordinary whiskey, but possesses properties known to no other article. It will effectually ward off pneumonia and has saved the lives of thousands of people. It should be remembered, however, that it is the only whiskey which can accomplish this, and any druggist or grocer

Prevalence of Kidney Disease.

The large demand, in this and foreign lands, for BUCHU-PAIBA is the best evidence of its reliability as a remedy in Kidney and Genito-Urinary diseases, affections of the Bladder, &c. The increase in Kidney Complaints in this country in recent years has been arrested to a great extent through the merits of this new remedy BUCHU-PAIBA, which without doubt is the best known treatment for irritation, inflammation and catarrh of the Bladder, and the various diseased Genito-Urinary discharges. It is put up in convenient bottles that sell for $1.00 at Druggists or Chemists, or may be had of the manufacturer, express prepaid, by forwarding $1.00 to E. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.

Cockroaches, Ants,

Beetles, water bugs. The most effective and permanent remedy is—for two or three nights to sprinkle ROUGH ON RATS dry powder unmixed, on, in, about and down the sink and drain pipe; scatter it well but thinly all over the sink. First thing in the morning wash it all away down the drain pipe, repeat two or three nights, when all the insects from garret to cellar will disappear. The secret of this is in the fact that wherever the bugs or insects may be during the day, they must go to the sinks for water during the night. They can't stand ROUGH ON RATS in their water. This is the quickest, most effective and satisfactory remedy. ROUGH ON RATS being a poison, it should be used in this way only at night and washed away early in the morning. Another way is to mix a tablespoonful of ROUGH ON RATS with a half pound of brown sugar. Sprinkle it on rear of cupboard shelves or on plates, or on sheets of paper placed high out of reach of children.

Seventy (77) Seven

I am seventy-seven years old, and have had my age renewed at least twenty years by the use of Swift's Specific—so that now I feel like I was about fifty-seven. My trouble was Eczema for fifteen years. My foot and leg to my knee was a running sore for two years, and physicians said it could not be cured. After taking fifteen small bottles S. S. S. there is not a sore on my limbs, and I am well, and at seventy-seven

MARKETS ARE HARDENING

Wheat Prices Reported in Better Shape.

The Advance Maintained Stubbornly.

Quotations from all Over the World for the Benefit of the Readers of the Bee.

There is very little news astir, to affect the prices of grain. While foreign markets are not much cheaper they are reported dull, with adequate supplies at hand.

English papers reflect a little better crop conditions than given yesterday, and show dull markets.

Wheat is worth 80c at Chicago. There is no No. 2 or contract wheat in store, of consequence. Toledo has 70,000 bu, St. Louis 62,000 bu, etc.

There is but little winter wheat of any kind in store, and none arriving and none to arrive very soon. The crop will inevitably be late, and our United States consumption to July 15 will be 70,000,000 bu. Good Chicago No. 2 spring sells about 8c under our May. Formerly about 2c. We expect to see a portion of that discrepancy restored.

Look at this condition of the markets. Wess, Attel & Co., of New York, report sales there as follows: 10 loads Toledo No. 2 red, 9c over May; 10 loads No. 1 northern, 3c over May; 5 loads No. 2 Chicago spring, 3c over May; 4 loads No. 3 Chicago spring, 3c over May; 13 loads hard Duluth, P. T.; 4 loads ungraded red, 8c over May.

Chicago reports sales No. 2 spring today at 1 1-2c over May.

All of the above presents a foggy aspect of the market.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are light; 239,967 bu, and at five other western points 88,823 bu. The receipts from these last mentioned five points on the corresponding Friday in 1891 were 119,765 bu.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were: Wheat 154,181 bu and flour to an aggregate of 250,000 bu. Export of corn 251,279 bu and of oats 13,648 bu.

English markets are dull and lower for wheat and corn.

We know that Ohio mills have but little wheat and cannot get it at home and have free orders for flour for consumption in this country.

Of course, these conditions are not news to dealers, but with strong parties on the bear side it is difficult to give them their due right in the market. But all the same the wheat markets are slowly hardening.

The wheat markets to-day on this side of the water have been characterized by more stubbornness than for a number of days. Not only has the little advance of yesterday been maintained but once or twice it has been added to about 3-4c, and closed for May 1-2c above yesterday.

Corn continues to act independently of wheat, and has been much stronger for May at Chicago, but losing a portion of the advance.

Foreign markets continue to be slow, and some of them are quoted lower.

In New York May wheat closed 1-2 and July 3-8 higher. May corn 1-8 higher; July steady. May oats 1-8 lower.

In Chicago May and July wheat closed 1-2c up. May corn 5-8c and and July 1-8c up. May oats 1-8c up.

In Toledo—The trading in wheat futures has been quite light again to-day and there has been no new feature in the deal. It has been a strong market and more doing for July than for May. The latter opened at 91 1-2c. Sold up to 92c, and again to 91 1-2c, advancing and closing and closing at 92 1-8c, a gain of 7-8c. July sold at 84 1-8c and advanced to 85 3-4c, a gain of 5-8c. August sold at 83 1-8c to 1-2c, a gain of 3-8c.

Cash wheat was not dealt in. No demand at the prices asked. Offerings light. No. 2 soft nominal at 92 1-4; No. 3 soft, 89 1-4; No. 2 white, 89. Corn, No. 3 at 40 1-2; No. 4 at 39 to 38 1-2. Rye, No. 2 at 77 1-2. Clover seed, nothing doing. Prices lower to sell.

NOTICE.

To Horsemen, Breeders and Veterinary Surgeons:

A new treatment for colts with congenatol or acquired deformities. By this treatment all deformities or crooked limbs may be made straight, and a deformed colt made to work, trot, or run as well as its more fortunate companion. There are many good, well-bred colts born every spring that are worthless from some slight irregularity in their anatomical make-up. Ninety-nine out of one hundred such colts can be made good valuable horses by this method.

The same treatment will apply to aged horses suffering from weak limbs, exostosis, sprains, relaxed tendons, when absolute rest to parts is necessary. For full particulars, address, with 2c stamp,

ROOM 25 1-2, LAW BUILDING,
